White TRUFFLE Vodka

White Truffle

RAST White Truffle vodka is composed of Italian white truffle (Tuber Magnatum), created with a special method which makes it unique and one of a kind, a distillate made of carefully selected wheat grain, and water from a 100-meter-deep artesian well, White Truffle vodka captures with its full flavor, and the distinct taste of white truffles.

Due to the truffle's natural color, RAST White Truffle vodka is just lightly tinted. This is proof that the vodka contains natural truffles which we have managed to combine with the vodka using a special method, the only ones in the world to be able to do so.

At first contact, RAST White Truffle vodka promises wonderful enjoyment, then a blend on the palate with the distinct taste of white truffle that evolves into a persistent and balanced finish. The essence of RAST White Truffle vodka is unique and rich, as we journey towards an elegantly divine finish.

We recommend that you chill your RAST White Truffle vodka in the refrigerator before serving, so that you can experience the whole spectrum of its taste at the optimal temperature of between 2 and 3 degrees.
